

Kingston University London and Transformers Foundation join forces to present a Masters level educational seminar series on the denim supply chain.

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

London, UK - Transformers ED, in collaboration with Kingston University London, is proud to announce a unique educational seminar series for master students who are eager to learn about the denim supply chain and its environmental impact at each stage of production.

This hybrid event, taking place on February 6th 2023, offers an exceptional opportunity for participants to gain insights into the creation of a transparent, circular, and responsible denim supply chain. The event will be held live at Kingston University London and open to anyone who wishes to join (registration here).

The seminar will be hosted by Denim Lecturer Mohsin Sajid, the founder of ENDRIME® & Denim History. A diverse array of expert speakers, including Neil Adams from Kingston University London, Kerry Bannigan, Executive Director of the Fashion Impact Fund, Lucie Brigham, Chief of Office of the United Nations Office for Partnerships, and Anne Oudard, Denim Consultant, will share their knowledge and experiences with the attendees.

The seminar will also feature industry leaders such as Tricia Carey from RENEWCELL, Pierette Scavuzzo and Caitlyn Holt from Cone Denim®, Zennure Denisman from Orta, Doug Gunn from The Vintage Showroom, and Barbara Vroom from TUDelft University. This remarkable lineup of speakers will provide an in-depth look at the denim industry and its impact on the environment, as well as its journey towards sustainability.

The seminar is aimed at providing students and consumers with the necessary knowledge and skills to foster a responsible and sustainable denim industry. Don't miss this chance to learn from some of the most renowned professionals in the field and join the conversation on how to create a better future for the denim industry.

For more information and registration details, visit the Transformers ED website here.

About Transformers Foundation

Transformers Foundation is the unified voice representing the denim industry and its ideas for positive change. It was founded to provide a thus-far missing platform to the jeans and denim supply chain and a central point of contact for consumers, brands, NGOs, and media who want to learn more about ethics and sustainable innovation in the industry.

For further information, please contact Ani Wells at communications@transformersfoundation.org